

This is the design for the new OpenDungeons Website

This design is planned to be replacing the current temporary website and will serve as a portal to our other communication channels.

The website should offer a welcome to both new contributors and players and serve as appetizer for the project.

Due to restrictions on the resources of our web host (who so generously provides us with a free web space, so, no I'm not complaining) and the not-use of features it may be best to build our website from scratch.

This way we will not be needlessly stressing our resources and pages will load way more smoothly.

As to when the actual website will be finished I have no idea. This project is one I have to work on in my spare time.

Extra Credits

In the creation of this preview I have used resources that weren't created by my hand.

Below you can see to who credits ought to be given to those parts

- Background: The Cubber, MrBeast, Skorpio
- Dwarf: Skorpio
- Cave Hornet: Skorpio
- Screen shots: OpenDungeons
